The best decision for Aged Care.

Due to open towards the end of March, Prime Trust's new aged care facility, Buderim Views, will be the premier aged care service provider on the Sunshine Coast. Applications and a waiting list opened prior to Christmas, with many local residents having now registered.

"The response from the public has been very positive, and we already have a strong contingent eagerly awaiting the opening of the new facility," says the Manager of Buderim Views, Dianne Weeks.

"The way in which we have approached the design of Buderim Views is with the belief we can deliver the very best of care to our residents, as well as providing a real choice of services."

Located on Mooloolaba Road, adjacent to Buderim Gardens Retirement Village, Buderim Views will have 120 rooms with private ensuites, offering low care, high care and a wing dedicated to looking after those with dementia.

Whilst the opening of the new facility will provide much needed aged care places for the local community, Buderim Views will also generate many employment opportunities.

"We've had a wonderful response to our advertised vacancies, and we're confident that we can fill the roles with qualified and experienced people."

The quality of staff at the new facility will be a major factor for new residents deciding to enter Buderim Views.

"The people in our team share my philosophical outlook on delivering a professional and caring service to our residents."

Often feeling daunted by the aged care search process, Dianne is regularly approached by families of future residents seeking advice.

"It can seem complicated, but my job here is to step each and every client through the decision process, to make it as straightforward as possible."

Places at Buderim Views will be limited. Find out about the best decision for aged care by contacting Dianne Weeks on 1800 445 235.
